Rinder to take over ITV!

Judge Robert Rinder is celebrating his 1,000th case in style...

Dig out the party poppers! This week Judge Rinder, aka barrister Robert Rinder, clocks up the 1,000th case on his daytime courtroom series!

TV Times met former Strictly contestant Robert, 39, in London for an exclusive interview to find out how he'll be celebrating...

So Robert, how does it feel to have reached your 1,000th case?

It feels lovely. I'm genuinely proud and ITV gave me a cake and a golden gavel! I asked for a raise and instead they bought me a toy, which was sweet. It's not real gold. I blame Brexit!

We hear there are special plans afoot...

I'm going to be ITV's continuity announcer for the day to celebrate [on Tue 17 April, the day the 1,000th case is shown]. I've always wanted to do it. Imagine the fun if you say what you're really thinking, 'Well, that was boring... now for something hopefully a bit more entertaining!' I'll be a mini-Gogglebox critic!

Tell us more about your 1,000th case...

It made me chuckle so much! Three women cause havoc in a pub when they get a bit merry and perform a dance move clinging onto the bar, ballet-style. It's a kind of drunken, overly enthusiastic version of what Darcey Bussell might do in the morning. Then a fourth woman comes along and joins in with sheer Babycham enthusiasm, and sadly the bar comes crashing down and the landlord was not happy at all!

Hit man: Robert received a golden gavel

Oh dear! Which Judge Rinder case has been the most memorable for you?

The lime green mankini case, which involved a group of musicians from Manchester, a 'wardrobe malfunction' and an 80-year-old dancer, all captured on video. It will never be erased from my memory.

How has doing Judge Rinder changed your life?

More people know who I am now! But people are always lovely and polite. Maybe because they worry I could send them to prison!

You also competed on Strictly in 2016. Did you enjoy it?

It was amazing and I made such good friends. Even after 18 months we keep in touch.

Do you still dance at all?

The dances I liked best are all from the 19th Century. Sadly, there's not much chance to break into a foxtrot or quickstep!

Spin-off from The Missing

Tchéky Karyo is back as investigator Baptiste in a new BBC1 sister show

We're just a teensy bit excited by the news that Tchéky Karyo is reprising his role as dogged detective Julien Baptiste in a spin-off from BBC1's hit crime drama The Missing! Here's what we know so far...

- The series will be called Baptiste and is written by brothers Harry and Jack Williams, who created The Missing. 'Julien Baptiste lives!' they say. 'It's a pleasure to write this character again.'

- The plot sees the methodical French investigator and his wife on holiday in Amsterdam, when the Dutch capital's chief of police – who also happens to be Julien's ex-girlfriend – seeks out his help solving a crime. He quickly finds himself embroiled in the seedy Amsterdam underworld.

- Tchéky is just as excited as us: 'Julien Baptiste is very dear to me, so I'm really excited to be following his journey to the streets of Amsterdam and seeing what dark secrets he unveils. No doubt he'll continue to take great risks in the name of justice.'

- Filming starts later this year in Amsterdam and Belgium.

Corrie stars Kym Marsh and Alison King on how Michelle and Carla Connor go from being the best of friends to the worst of enemies...

SOAP

Coronation Street

MON, WED, FRI / ITV / TIMES VARY

Their friendship is one of the most enduring in Coronation Street

– but it looks like the days of Michelle and

Carla putting the world to rights over a couple of bottles of Pinot Grigio are long gone, when Chelle discovers that her best pal has got down and dirty with her son Ali.

The big discovery happens at a dinner party Michelle has thrown for her nearest and dearest – but it's not the only shock coming her way, as Carla later drops the bombshell that Michelle's fiancé, Robert, is taking steroids.

TV Times caught up with Corrie stars Kym Marsh and Alison King to find out more...

How does Carla feel about Ali at this point – does she really like him or is he just a bit of fun?

Alison: She wasn't looking for anything with Ali, but she is a bit sex-starved, and after the fling with Daniel, there hasn't been anyone else. He's good to talk to, he's a grown-up man now, he's fit and she's a red-blooded girl. I think she just gave in when it was on offer!

Does she worry about how Michelle will react if she finds out?

Alison: Yes, she's trying to keep it all under wraps. Once the repercussions of her actions sank in and she realised how much Michelle would be hurt, she has tried to pull back. She also thinks that maybe Ali's trying to hurt Michelle, and that's why he got together with her in the first place.

Talk us through the scene where Michelle catches her best mate and her son together.

Kym: Carla wants Ali's help in finding out what's going on with Robert. At the dinner party, he asks her to come outside and she thinks

“I would kill any of my friends if they did that” he wants to talk, but he tries to kiss her. Carla tries to push him away, but she ends up snogging him instead. Michelle opens the door at that key moment to tell them dinner's on the table – and there they are, in a clinch!

How does Michelle react?

Kym: She's furious! She feels so betrayed. Carla tries to defend herself, but she says something mean, and Michelle goes off her nut. She's like 'Get out, I don't ever want to see you again!' In Chelle's eyes, Carla is like Ali's auntie.

Her other son, Ryan, always called her Auntie Carla, so for her it's the same.

They have quite a showdown. There's no physical violence, but Michelle gives Carla what-for.

As a mum, can you understand Michelle's anger?

Kym: Absolutely! I would kill any of my friends if they did that with my son. Oh my God! I would be physical!

How does Carla feel about being sent to Coventry by her 'bestie'?

Alison: Michelle's her best friend; they're like sisters, so it couldn't be any worse. Ali wants to take their relationship further, but this makes Carla pull back. They've only slept together the once – her relationship with Michelle is more important to her than a relationship with him. Later on, Michelle tells Carla that she's not coming to her and Robert's wedding; that it's for friends and

Kiss me quick: Carla gives in to Ali's advances close family only. But hopefully Carla will stick her bottom lip out in true 'Carchelle' fashion and say 'sorry' enough times for Michelle to forgive her.

Carla also tells Michelle about her discovery that Robert is on steroids. Is she worried that Michelle won't believe her?

Alison: Although Carla's upset over the Ali thing, she still wants to tell Michelle about Robert so she can make up her own mind. At first, Michelle doesn't believe her, but then she asks her how long she's known, and Carla just tells her the truth and tells her to talk to Robert.

How does Michelle feel about discovering Robert's secret?

Kym: The secrecy is a big thing for Michelle, because Robert does tend to keep things from her. Steve was a liar, and she thought Robert was different. So she feels very let down and questions whether she really knows him. But she doesn't have any doubts about going ahead with the wedding – I've already got the dress.

Michelle and Carla have become quite the Corrie duo – do you enjoy the 'Carchelle' relationship?

Alison: Yes, and I hope they do get back on track, because I would miss working with Kym Marsh – she makes me belly laugh. I hope they don't keep us apart for too long!

Kym: We giggle like silly girls. The thing with Ali is she gets her words mixed up sometimes. We had this scene in the factory; it was quite a serious scene and she said the wrong thing but kept a really serious face. I couldn't carry on. I was wetting myself laughing. It's things like that that make you good mates. She's super supportive, too. If you ever need anything, she's always there.

Sir David Attenborough on the Queen giving him a tour of the Buckingham Palace garden...

NEW DOCUMENTARY

The Queen's Green Planet

MONDAY / ITV / 9PM

Every year, the Royal Family opens up the grounds of Buckingham Palace for garden parties, to which thousands of community figures are invited.

But last summer, one lucky individual enjoyed a private tour of the grounds in the company of none other than Her Majesty the Queen!

The guest was acclaimed naturalist and broadcaster Sir David Attenborough and ITV cameras were there to capture the encounter for a new documentary, The Queen's Green Planet.

“Prince Harry is already an expert at royal tree-planting”

SIR DAVID ATTENBOROUGH

The one-off celebrates a remarkable new initiative called The Queen's Commonwealth Canopy, committed to preserving natural habitats in Commonwealth countries for future generations.

Among the advocates for the project are Hollywood star Angelina Jolie, foreign secretary Boris Johnson and the Queen's grandsons Princes William and Harry, all of whom appear in the programme.

Sir David Attenborough offered TV Times a sneak preview of what happened when he and the Queen – born a month apart in 1926 – took a turn around the garden to talk conservation... IAN MACEWAN

The Queen's

The Queen as a girl with her sister, Princess Margaret

THE ROYAL GARDENERS

Prince Charles is a keen horticulturalist and green fingers run in the Royal Family. 'The Queen's love of trees goes back to her childhood,' says Sir David, whose many nature series include The Private Life of Plants and Kingdom of Plants. 'But the tradition of planting trees at Buckingham Palace goes back even further. In the early 1600s, King James I planted mulberry trees here as food for silk worms.'

DIGGING IN!

Planting a tree is often on the itinerary during a royal visit, although these days the Queen is more likely to send Princes William and Harry along to do the honours. 'The Royal Family has been planting trees around the world for generations,' says Sir David, who has had an entire genus of plants named after him. 'It's a sort of royal "I was here", and a symbol of new life, growth and stability. There's something life-affirming about it – one, two, three shovels, and people clap. Prince Harry is already an expert at royal tree-planting!'

THE QUEEN'S CANOPY

The forestry conservation initiative – The Queen's Commonwealth Canopy – is a subject close to the monarch's heart.

'Trees have always been a part of the Queen's life,' says Sir David. 'Now, she wants to make sure they remain a part of ours for years to come. The dream is to create a global network of protected forests, by getting people from all 53 countries of the Commonwealth planting trees and dedicating forests in her name.'

VICTORIA'S VALUES

London is famous for its plane trees, and two imposing specimens in the Buckingham Palace garden have a rather interesting royal history.

'We began our walk under a pair of magnificent plane trees, planted by the Queen's great-great-grandparents, Victoria and Albert,' says Sir David. The Queen reveals the trees are 'very valuable to us'.

HER MAJESTY'S PATCH

Seven facts about the Palace gardens

1 The garden at Buckingham Palace occupies a 42-acre site and has two-and-a-half miles of gravel paths.

2 The 19th-century lake in the garden was once home to a flock of flamingos.

3 The Queen held the first of her famous garden parties at Buckingham Palace in 2002.

4 Trees in the garden include plane, Indian chestnut, silver maple and swamp cypress. There is also a sole surviving mulberry tree that was planted by James I.

5 Attractions in the garden include the Waterloo Vase, a 15-foot urn commissioned by Napoleon and presented to the Prince Regent in 1815.

6 The garden was the site of defensive Parliamentary earthworks during the Civil War.

7 Tony Robinson led a Time Team dig in the garden in 2006. Among the discoveries was an ornamental canal.

The Queen at one of the Palace garden parties

THE FAMILY TREES

As part of his tour, Sir David is shown trees that are connected to specific members of the current Royal Family. 'Like her great-great-grandmother Victoria, the Queen is continuing the tradition of planting family trees in the garden,' he explains. 'It's a little-known fact that Her Majesty loves trees, and she's planted them in the Palace garden for all of her children. There's an oak for her son, Prince Charles, her daughter Princess Anne, and two for her youngest sons, Princes Andrew and Edward.'

GOT TALENT
2018

Absolutely buzzing!

'Britain's No.1 judge' David Walliams on this year's dynamite series and beating
Simon Cowell to the Golden Buzzer!

NEW ENTERTAINMENT

Britain's Got Talent

SATURDAY / ITV / 8PM

The stage is set, those loud, red buzzers are primed and ready, and there are some nervous hopefuls waiting to perform. It can mean only one thing – it's time for the return of ITV hit Britain's Got Talent!

Once again, judges Simon Cowell, Amanda Holden, David Walliams and Alesha Dixon have been travelling the length and breadth of the UK hoping to uncover all manner of singers, dance troupes, talented pets, death-defying daredevils and everything in between for the show's 12th series.

As the auditions roll into London, TV Times pops along to the iconic London Palladium to discover what kind of talent our capital city has to offer.

As hosts Ant and Dec come onto the stage and introduce the judges, the crowd goes wild. When Simon congratulates the presenting duo on winning their 17th National Television Award, David reminds everyone about his own NTA win – for Britain's Best TV Judge.

As the judges get comfortable in their seats, now all we need is some talent. And it seems it's going to take a lot to please Simon today. As he labels one particular act 'boring', he's met with a chorus of boos from the audience. Even Dec emerges sheepishly from backstage wondering if it's safe to continue!

Simon's generally in a mischievous mood, arguing with the other judges and putting them on the spot with their critique of the acts. But when he tries to tell David off over his enthusiasm for an unusual dance act, his old sparring partner is having none of it and reminds him (again!) that he's 'Britain's No.1 Judge'.

As the first crop of pre-recorded auditions air on ITV this weekend, we caught up with David, 46, to find out if Britain's still got talent...

What do you most enjoy about being a judge on BGT?

It's just a pleasure to be part of a show that's such a juggernaut of a success. Sometimes the popularity of other shows wanes a little bit, but BGT seems to go on and on. You can't believe as a judge you're getting paid because you've basically got the best seat in the house and all these people are coming on to entertain you. And when it's great, it's magical.

“Simon likes the idea of me being in mortal danger and perhaps even dying on live TV...”

Congratulations on your NTA win. How many times have you reminded Simon that you're 'Britain's No.1 judge'?

I've mentioned it to him a few times, and he doesn't enjoy it because he's very competitive. At the auditions, he's been telling the audience that there's going to be a recount and how it's all a big conspiracy. So he doesn't like it, especially as judging is what he does – he doesn't do anything else!

What has the dynamic been like between members of the judging panel this year?

Well, filming long days with four egos, you can start to get on each other's nerves, but it's actually been very harmonious and we haven't had any disagreements. Sometimes Simon accuses me of 'stealing his lines'. That's the thing he gets annoyed about, but I'm the kind of person who, if you tell me not to do something, I'll just go and do it even more!

What can you tell us about your Golden Buzzer act?

Firstly I can tell you that Simon was quite frustrated because he wanted to press the Golden Buzzer for the same act. I don't want to give too much away but it's a guy who's written this very funny song.

Do you think you've got the winning Golden Buzzer act?

I don't know. Simon has turned it into a competition about which judge is going to win but I don't see it that way. I see the Golden Buzzer as being like a 'wildcard' for someone who otherwise might not have got through to the semi-finals. It's about giving someone that 'golden ticket' and them having that lovely moment where the whole stage turns gold and it's euphoric. My guy collapsed onto the floor; in a good way – he didn't have a heart attack or anything!

Have there been any acts that have made you think: 'Oh no, not another one of those'?

Well, we've had a few magicians in the semi-finals in recent years and we do see a lot of them now. My heart slightly sinks when they say they're going to do magic and they pull out a deck of cards, especially if it's the third or fourth time that day you've been asked to shuffle cards!

We know Simon loves the more dangerous acts. Have you had many of those this time?

We've had some incredible escapologists and also a man who put dynamite in his mouth. Every time there's a dangerous act, Simon asks them: 'Can you somehow involve David?' He likes the idea of me being in mortal danger and perhaps even dying on live TV. I think he thinks it might be his gift to the world that he's killed me off!

What kind of act would you like to see win the competition?

A comedian's never won, so that would be great – or a speciality act. Last year, pianist Tokio Myers was a very cool winner; he wasn't the kind of act you'd expect to win BGT but he did and he's brilliant. Performing at Royal Variety is still the pinnacle for a variety act in Britain, so it's a special thing that it's still part of the prize. And the £250,000 is quite nice, too!

Sweet dreams for living life to the full.

When Wendy Steele discovered New Nordic Melissa Dream™, she finally found her perfect revitalisation recipe.

Why I knew that I desperately needed a good night's sleep...

Problems had been accumulating over time. Our son was due to leave for university, but before he was able to do that, he had to undergo a difficult and traumatic operation which required intensive home care by specialist nurses as well as regular travel to hospitals abroad as part of the treatment process. As if all that wasn't enough, I was trying to complete a PhD while doing a physically demanding shift-based job, plus our house had been up for sale for months. Burn out was looming.

Life for me had turned into a state of near-permanent panic as I obsessed about all the problems facing me. I couldn't sleep, I lost my appetite and I often suffered from migraines, brought on by stress, poor eating and the lack of proper sleep. After reading about Melissa Dream™ supplements in a magazine,

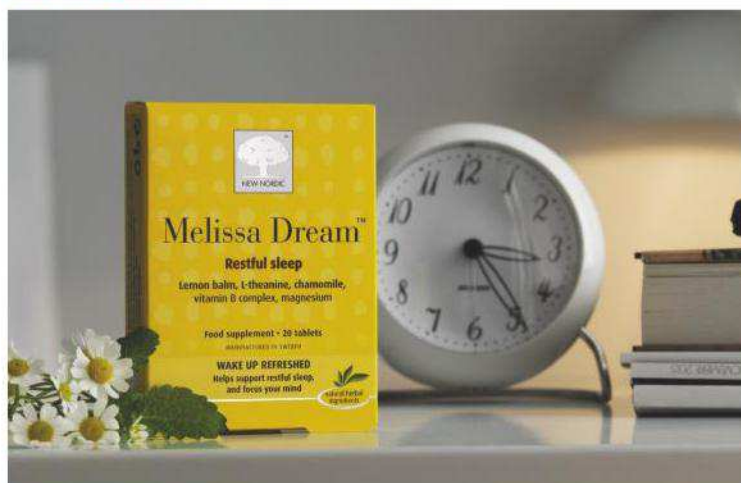

I decided to give them a try and ordered a supply online.

After only two days of taking the tablets, I noticed I am feeling more positive and revitalised. I was relaxed in a way that was totally different to how I had been for ages.

I've been taking Melissa Dream™ for a month now and my quality of life has improved.

My husband, family and friends have all noticed the difference – I'm back to my normal self and it feels great! I used to be a member of the GB athletics team and have rediscovered my love of running, cross country skiing and regular gym sessions.

BRITAIN'S GOT TALENT 2018

'Simon and David are seething!'

Stephen Mulhern on how TV Times became the star of BGT's sister show this year... and upset the judges!

NEW ENTERTAINMENT

Britain's Got More Talent

SATURDAY / ITV2 / 9.25PM

Stephen Mulhern is in a jubilant mood. Why? Because Britain's Got More Talent – the ITV2 spin-off he's hosted for 11 years – won the TV Times award for Best Digital Show.

'I can't thank the fans enough,' enthuses Stephen, 41. 'It's nice for the BGMT team to be rewarded.'

Stephen wants to tell the world and there's only one way to do it...

With each new series comes a brand-new opening song – and this year the theme is BGMT's big win.

With Stephen filming the ditty, TV Times went to a London boxing gym to hear about the new series...

Congratulations on winning the TV Times award! How do you feel?

We've spent the last 11 years banging on about how we've never won an award and then we get one of the best! So we're really pleased.

Are Britain's Got Talent judges Simon Cowell and David Walliams a bit jealous?

Of course! They're seething. I'd imagine. I tease them with it. We put the award in the judges' room and it's funny how it moved from Simon's station to David's station to Amanda's, then onto Alesha's. I think it's just so it felt like they'd got a tiny part of it. Of course, David's reminding everyone he's the Best TV Judge [an award he won at this year's National Television Awards]!

Do you enjoy filming the song?

The hardest part of filming BGMT is the opening song because it's the thing everyone talks about. This morning, we were driving a bus with banners on it and the reaction was amazing.

One man said: 'Congratulations on your award.' So the word is spreading...

What's the tune like?

It's a mixture of a song and a rap. [Stephen starts to sing]: 'We've won, yes I know, TV Times, best digital show, I know it sounds crazy but I've checked, and yes it is correct.' So TV Times is named!

Why are we at a boxing gym?

This part is about us knocking the competition out of the park. The lyrics are [Stephen sings again]: 'It's nothing new you haven't seen, no Big Little Lies or the Queen, no clever plots that twist and turn,

Jealous: BGT judges David and Simon

Games of Thrones dragons feel the burn...' So even the Queen's here!

What makes BGMT bigger and better this year?

We never do the same thing. We don't really want anyone that's properly talented! Mmm... What I mean is, it's not important to be talented on BGMT!

How will the judges be getting involved on BGMT this year?

We've got a new game for Amanda called 'Low and Beholden' – every week she'll compete against a former BGT act. We've also brought back Wonky Donkey and they all compete against each other.

Finally, have you been given a Golden Buzzer this year?

No, and I'm gutted. Simon told me, 'You can have a bronze buzzer and whoever you press it for can appear on ITV2.' I'm certain they won't trust me with a Golden Buzzer because they know what sort of act I'll put through!

1 RIDE THE WILD STALLION...

We had a ball when we were making Men Behaving Badly, particularly once we had discovered we were in a hit. People were going crazy for it, so you ride that wild stallion for a while. It was great being on the back of that beast!

People often came up to us and said, 'My flatmate and I are just like you!' and we'd go, 'Oh dear, that's not a good thing!' They were a pair of misogynist losers who had boring jobs. But what they talked about was funny and aspirational and odd. So in that sense it was great.

2 DON'T FORGET YOUR ROOTS

I don't mind when people ask me about Boon, even though it was a long time ago.

I don't know why some actors don't like talking about their early work. They should be so proud of what was so good for them. You see it with people who come up from the soaps: Anna Friel and Russell Crowe started off in Brookside and Neighbours, but now they're at the top of their game. Any work is work when you're starting as an actor. You don't come into this game looking to be a star.

“You don't come into this game looking to be a star”

3 SUCCESS COMES IN STRANGE PLACES

When I was asked to do Bob the Builder I did it because my son was very young at the time, so it was something he would enjoy. It was great fun sitting around a microphone and making each other laugh all the time and the animation was fantastic. We had Elton John singing on one episode.

When it got massive it got taken over by an American toy corporation that just wanted to use it to sell toys and didn't care about the show. I felt robbed of one of my creations. It was sad and there was no great parting. They just called up one day and told me I wasn't doing it any more!

4 ALWAYS FLY FIRST CLASS

Bob the Builder got two No.1s and, one year, we beat Westlife to be top of the charts for Christmas and New Year. I couldn't believe it.

I was boarding a plane to Los Angeles when I found out and was disappointed that I wouldn't be able to chat to Dr Fox on the radio, but the captain managed to get ground-to-air, so I spoke to Foxy in mid-air.

I was sitting there with a glass of champers and Ronan Keating from Boyzone was sitting next to me. I tried to get him on the phone, but he wouldn't have it!

5 NEVER GO TO A RESTAURANT WITH ADRIAN DUNBAR

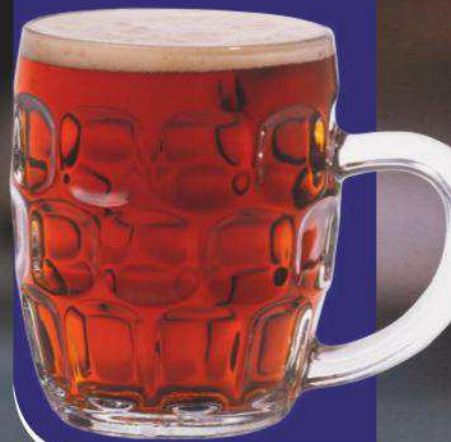

Adrian Dunbar [who plays Superintendent Ted Hastings in Line of Duty] and I have been friends since we were teenagers. We auditioned at drama school together on the same day and we go on holidays together. I know his children.

It's funny, because now we're walking down the street and it's him who's getting the autograph hunters. I'm going, 'You see what I was putting up with for all those years!' We went for dinner and he got totally mobbed, but working with him on a show like Line of Duty was a dream. I would love for my character to come back one day!

6 ALWAYS WORK NEAR A GOOD PUB

When I was working on Inspector George Gently, we were filming in Durham and I found this amazing pub. If I find a good pub while I'm working then I keep going back.

Once you've done an autograph and selfie with the regulars, you're just a bloke who turns up there every night. People used to come up to me and ask me to tell their brother he's an idiot or something like that. I can't do that any more, though, so please don't ask!

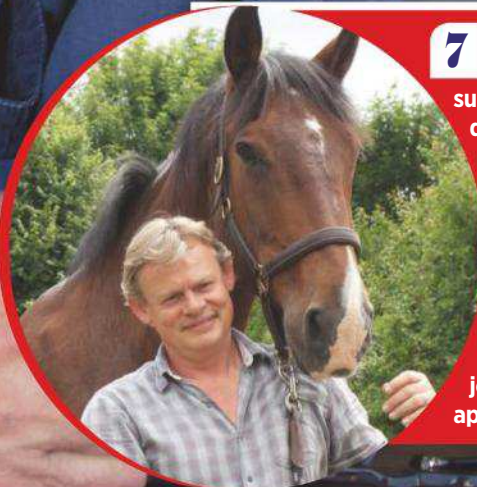

7 BE WARY OF HORSES...

Martin Clunes and I have been mates for such a long time that when we're together we don't talk about work. We just talk about what's on telly and have a pint. I love getting down to his house; it's a delightful place.

It's like a very posh hotel that you don't pay for and you can ride a horse if you want. He wants me to have a ride, but I'm not as horsey as he is.

I was bitten by a horse when I was a kid. I was scrumping for apples and my brother's job was to distract the horse while I got the apples, but he didn't do a very good job.

Holiday in HELL!

Johnny Vegas and Emilia Fox on playing rival holidaymakers in a warm-hearted new sitcom...

NEW COMEDY

Home from Home

FRIDAY / BBC1 / 9.30PM

On a wet and chilly June day, TV Times is at a holiday park in the Lake District watching the filming of BBC1's new warm-hearted comedy, Home from Home.

The series, which began as a pilot in 2016, sees Johnny Vegas play motorway-service-station worker Neil Hackett, who owns a dilapidated holiday lodge with long-suffering wife Fiona (Niky Wardley, taking over the role from Joanna Page) and their two sons.

Snooty Penny Dillon (Emilia Fox) owns a more upmarket lodge on the site with her husband, Robert (Adam James), and their daughter. But mismatched Penny and Neil are unimpressed about being neighbours so clashes swiftly occur!

As Johnny, 46, and Emilia, 43, chat to us in Penny's plush lodge during a break in filming, the bad weather clearly hasn't put a dampener on their holiday spirit...

You must be delighted that Home from Home has been given a full series. Can you describe the show?

Johnny: It is a class comedy but the problems are generated in Neil's head. He sees Penny and Robert as people who have everything he hasn't and he has simmering jealousy. Neil's always the architect of his own downfall.

Emilia: Penny is unhinged and brutal and used to getting her own way. Fiona and Robert are nice, innocent bystanders but Penny and Neil are always bickering. I'm horrible to you all the time, Johnny!

Johnny: Yes, but you're so adorable off-camera I'd forgive you anything.

Why is a holiday park such a good setting for comedy?

Johnny: Holidays always have a way of heightening tensions and a park like this is a real social melting pot. For the Hacketts, their lodge is a dream come true but it should be called Amityville because it looks more like a haunted house.

Emilia: As you can see, Penny's lodge is gorgeous with a hot tub outside. I'd be thrilled to stay here but she'd rather be in Ibiza.

Neil lands himself in some tricky situations, from burying himself in cement to going up in a hot-air balloon! What was the most memorable to film?

Johnny: The hot-air balloon because I don't like heights and it wasn't great looking over the side of the basket, but Emilia loved it and was almost hanging off with one arm.

Emilia: Yes, it was the best day of our lives being taken up in a hot-air balloon on a beautiful day – but poor Johnny was cowering in the bottom of the basket.

Do you enjoy filming in the Lakes?

Johnny: Yes, the sun has been out a lot and the Lake District is another character in the comedy. There is so much to explore here.

Emilia: It is stunning. I totally get the appeal of having family holidays here. I brought my little girl [Rose, seven] up because there is so much to do with the beautiful castles and scenery; it is very family-orientated.

What were your own family holidays like as children?

Johnny: We went to Butlin's until my dad got laid off and then I went on a charity holiday for deprived children. It was at a youth hostel in Wales and I was with Britain's hardest kids; it was horrendous. We never had foreign travel, and my brother told me it was because I was adopted and left on the doorstep and they couldn't get a passport for me. I believed him!

Emilia: Well, my parents [actors Edward Fox and Joanna David] don't like travelling abroad so we've been going to Dorset every year for about 40 years. We have a holiday home where nothing has changed – and sometimes there is water and sometimes there is electricity!

You're having a giraffe!

TV Times enjoys a special trip around Chester Zoo to meet the new stars of C4's glorious documentary...

NEW DOCUMENTARY

The Secret Life of the Zoo

WEDNESDAY / C4 / 8PM

On a wooden platform high above the ground, a lucky TV Times is feeding willow branches to Chester Zoo's 10 Rothschild's giraffes.

Giraffe team manager Sarah Roffe has warned us that, even though it's tempting, the herd don't actually like being stroked, so we're trying to restrain ourselves.

Despite their gentle appearance, these super-cute animals prove surprisingly forceful as they tug the branches out of our hands to strip off the tasty buds!

We've been invited on an exclusive trip around the zoo ahead of the fifth series of C4's The Secret Life of the Zoo, which lifts the lid on the hidden lives of some of the 21,000 animals who are cared for at the 125-acre Cheshire site.

The new run explores blossoming romance, parenthood and the struggle for survival among a variety of creatures including the giraffes. Here, Sarah, 37, tells us what's in store for her charges...

You've got some lovely youngsters here – do we see them in the show? Yes, this series captures the birth of Narus to mum Orla. Seeing a giraffe born is amazing but nail-biting because it is a six-foot drop. Then we have to wait to see whether mum will look after it and will it get its sea legs and walk. Luckily with Narus, it was straightforward but you see us grab him to microchip him later and he was very vocal. You don't often hear calves but we did this time!

What other giraffe stories can we look forward to? One of our males, Kidepo, moves out to another collection in France as part of a breeding programme so you see us bring a wagon into the enclosure for him. The other giraffes were all watching so we really had to move it around safely, but a couple of them got cheeky!

We spied your tallest giraffe chewing the side of the giraffe house earlier! Does he star too? That's our breeding bull Meru; he's showing off! He's about 18 feet tall and has fathered lots of calves but he's been naughty from day one when he stripped the pipe work until water came down. This series looks at how he interacts with the others because he is bullish. He can be enjoyable to work with but when he is doing his 'bull job' he's a different animal. I won't go into details!

What do you enjoy about working with giraffes?

Rothschild's giraffes have a pure white 'sock' on their legs just up to the knee and I absolutely love working with them. They're so elegant and after you work with a big animal like this you can't get the same adrenaline rush working with anything else. They don't like change though; even a visitor's hat can set them off!

How do you find being part of The Secret Life of the Zoo? It's great because the crew work around our routine and with Narus' birth they just set up a rig and left us to it. I do get recognised by visitors now but also on my days off, which is bizarre! It is lovely that children watch, though. We had a camel pass away in the last series and a little lad wrote in to us and said how sorry he was, which was so nice.

ALSO STARRING....

AFRICAN PAINTED DOGS

We're thrilled to get a peek at the Zoo's gorgeous African painted dogs, whose pups' birth features in the new series. Eight cubs, the zoo's first, were born five months ago to mum K'mana and dad Ville, and although two sadly passed away, the remaining six are thriving.

'The dogs are endangered, so it's important that they're bred in zoos and we brought K'mana and Ville here to start a breeding pack,' says carnivore keeper Dayna Adamson, 29.

'The pups are so cool to watch because they're investigating everything and you just fall in love with them because they're so intelligent.'

HERCULES BEETLES

Tiny creatures also take their turn in the spotlight in the new series.

'They're one of the longest beetles in the world,' says

Tamás Papp, 36, the lead keeper of invertebrates as he shows us an adult male. 'We see this one trying to find a mate and also protecting his food.

Males are fine together but if a female is put in with them they get into a gladiator-type fight. We can only let that happen for a few seconds because they can kill each other.'

ORANGUTANS

The arrival of a baby Sumatran orangutan leaves the keepers stumped in the opening episode. Sisters Emma and Subis are both pregnant and one morning Emma is found holding a baby. However, it turns out that she is still pregnant, but has taken on Subis' offspring. Sadly the baby died shortly before Emma's own baby Kesuma was born.

'Sumatran orangutans are on the brink of extinction so every baby is special but this was something we had not witnessed before,' says Dr Nick Davis, deputy curator of mammals. 'Our immediate concerns were for Subis but for some reason Emma had stepped in to look after the baby. Orangutans are so incredibly intelligent.'

The series also looks at the development of Emma's five-year-old son, Tripa. 'He is a real character but smaller than we'd expect,' says Nick.

My food revolution!

Tom Kerridge goes hunting for the UK's best up-and-coming artisan food maker...

NEW COOKERY

Top of the Shop with Tom Kerridge

TUESDAY & WEDNESDAY / BBC2 / 8PM

Tom Kerridge is convinced there's a food entrepreneur lurking in every kitchen across the land.

'How many times have you made a much-loved family recipe and thought, "I could sell this?"' asks the Michelin-starred TV chef. That's the question Tom poses in his latest BBC2 competition, Top of the Shop with Tom Kerridge.

Harnessing the UK's growing interest in artisan food, he's invited amateur food makers to bring their homemade wares into a working farm shop in the heart of the Yorkshire Dales.

From smoking meat to handmade cheeses and chocolates, contestants must leave their safe, cosy kitchens and convince customers to part with their hard-earned cash.

They'll also have to impress expert artisan judges Nisha Katona and Alison Swan Parente with the tastiest, most popular and most marketable product being awarded the coveted 'Best Up-and-Coming Artisan' title.

Here Tom, 44, tells TV Times more...

How did you get involved in the series, Tom?

I've got a huge interest in small food producers – they're key to the success of The Hand and Flowers [Tom's two Michelin-starred pub in Marlow]. So when I got the call asking if I was up for meeting budding foodie entrepreneurs, I didn't hesitate.

Tom with the judges and some contestants

'Artisan' is the buzzword these days...

There's so much interest now in food heritage – where it's from and how it's made. Consumers like the idea of food made on a small scale, often by hand, using traditional methods and quality ingredients.

And Top of the Shop will give a helping hand to wannabe artisans...

Exactly. We invite 28 contestants – ordinary folk who think they've got a great product – into our farm shop to test it out on the great British public. It's daunting as some have only ever given their homemade jam or cheese to friends and family before.

So the shop is the contestants' battleground?

It is – and a beautiful one at that. It's in Malhamdale in the Yorkshire Dales. The local community come to give their verdict, too – and they're Yorkshire folk, remember, so they say what they think. It can be brutal!

Tell us about the contestants...

You'll fall in love with them. We have seven different categories and four producers from each category come into the shop each episode to showcase their creation. It's pickles, preserves and spreads this week, so look out for Jason and Linzi with their exquisite peanut butter; Louise with her green-papaya pickle; Sara with her apple-and-chilli jelly, and Pam and Emily with their runner-bean chutney. It's nerve-wracking. They need to impress both customers and judges Nisha and Alison, with the most successful going through to the grand final.

You've worked hard to make your way to the top, Tom. Did you empathise with the contestants?

Massively. Anyone who starts from nothing gets my respect. Some have quit well-paying jobs to turn their artisan dreams into reality. They're not in it to become millionaires. It's a labour of love. That's what you're paying for.

Why is artisan food so pricey?

The question shouldn't be why is artisan food so expensive – it should be why is other food so cheap? With artisan food you're buying something that's been made with love and care. There's no way a 75p sliced white loaf from the supermarket has taken a skilled baker two-and-a-half days to make.

Could the winner follow in the footsteps of Dragons' Den's Levi Roots with their product taking supermarkets by storm?

They could go far without a doubt. The winning product is fantastic – it could happily sit on shop shelves. Watch this space!

How to be your own boss

Karren Brady gives us her five top tips for budding entrepreneurs...

NEW REAL LIFE

Give It a Year

MON / ITV / 8PM (times vary, not Scot)

Imagine starting a new business from scratch, knowing that queen of the boardroom Karren Brady is waiting in the wings to judge your every move.

That’s the premise of new ITV series Give It a Year, in which Karren meets entrepreneurs launching new ventures, and returns 12 months later to scrutinise the figures.

Here, Karren, 49, shares her top five tips with TVTimes on how to start your own business...

1 WORK HARD, PLAY HARD

‘People think you do less work when you’re your own boss, but in reality you’re everything from the finance director to the tea lady. You have to be prepared to work hard to have a successful business.’

2 HAVE A PLAN

‘A business plan is important because it helps you with finance, but actually what’s needed is an action plan, setting out what you’re going to do to and by when. Then you need to call the banks.’

3 GET A MENTOR

‘Mentoring is a new part of the business approach. When I started out it was more dog-eat-dog. Now there tends to be a common goal and people want to see others do well. Lots of entrepreneurs just need confidence and someone with experience to advise them.’

4 EXPLOIT THE INTERNET

‘Nowadays you don’t need a premises to set up a business. Sarah, an entrepreneur in episode one, starts a business from her garage because the internet allows her to showcase her product for very little outlay.’

Karren advises inventor Thomas

5 BE YOUR OWN CHEERLEADER

‘A typical entrepreneur is someone who learns on the job, isn’t afraid to make mistakes and doesn’t listen to people who tell them not to do it. They just get on with it.’

Why I love Ninjas!

NEW ENTERTAINMENT
Ninja Warrior UK
SATURDAY / ITV / 6.30PM

Brace yourselves for even more thrills, spills and painful tumbles when Ninja Warrior UK returns for its fourth series this week, as hopefuls will have to face its toughest obstacle course yet!

The infamous warped wall is now 25cm higher and all the challenges have been made even trickier, meaning reaching the final is now almost impossible! Will anyone manage to conquer the epic Mount Midoriyama this time?

'This is the best series so far!' promises football pundit Chris 'Kammy' Kamara, 60, who co-hosts the series with Ben Shephard and Rochelle Humes. 'I can't give anything away, but the finish is something else – people will love it!'

Here, Kammy tells TV Times the seven things he loves best about the hit show...

Host Chris 'Kammy' Kamara gives us seven reasons his Saturday-night smash hit is like no other show...

1 MY CO-HOSTS

'It's great working with Ben and Rochelle. I've learned so much from them and we just fit. The only thing is, I've injured my hamstrings so I haven't managed to take on Ben in the course and he keeps crowing about it. It drives me mad!'

2 THE CONTESTANTS

'I love them – the good ones, the bad ones, the ones that take their shirts off or do somersaults or wear silly costumes even if it hinders their progress! The quality of the contestants this year has gone up another level. They have to be fitter and stronger than ever to give themselves a chance.'

3 PEOPLE FALLING IN WATER

'How many times can you laugh at someone falling in the water? The answer is absolutely every single time! I know that the viewers at home not only laugh at the people falling in the water, but they also laugh at me laughing at them!'

4 THE COURSE JUST GETS HARDER!

'When you walk onto the set, the scale of the obstacles themselves takes your breath away. It's been a massive eye-opener for me and I get a buzz from seeing the set every single time. To coin my own phrase, it's unbelievable!'

5 IT'S MORE THAN A TV SHOW

'There's a fun side to Ninja Warrior UK but a serious side, too, especially when someone doesn't get as far as they know they should. You can see the disappointment on their faces and it gets to you when you believe in them and they don't make it. On the flip side, seeing their excitement when they get to the top of the warped wall is spine-tingling.'

6 THE AUDIENCE

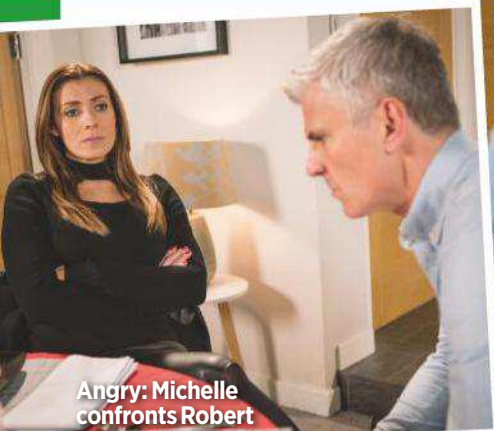

'The first time we did the show, we had nine hours on set and the audience had to leave before the end because the car park was closing. We realised then how crucial the enthusiasm of the crowd is, so we now have over 1,000 people in the arena and the atmosphere is bouncing!'

7 IT'S ON SATURDAY NIGHT

'Being part of a Saturday-night TV show has opened up a whole new audience for me, not just the footballing audience, but the kids and grans who watch the show. I get recognised all the time now. It hasn't changed me, though. I still get the Tube in London and everybody is always really nice!'

Angry: Michelle confronts Robert

Ali and Carla are caught kissing by horrified Michelle Betrayed!

Michelle flips when she discovers Carla's having a relationship with Ali

Michelle Connor hosts a dinner party this week, but she gets more than she bargained for when she discovers that son Ali and her best mate, Carla, have decided to have each other for dessert.

Carla tries to keep her distance from the dishy doc as they arrive at Chelle's flat along with Johnny, Jenny, Roy and Aidan for the meal, but he asks her to go outside to talk, and chances his arm by kissing her. Michelle then comes out to tell them that grub's up, and catches the pair of them with their tongues down each other's throats.

She's livid, and sends the other guests home, before having it out with her so-called friend.

'Michelle gives Carla what for – it's the ultimate betrayal,' says Kym Marsh, who plays the furious mum. 'Carla tries to defend herself but there's not much she can say. She knows she's done the wrong thing. She wouldn't have kept her and Ali a secret otherwise.'

Michelle's so angry that she even refuses to take Carla's calls. Carla's gutted about the rift, but she has other things to worry about – she discovered last week that Robert was taking steroids. She eventually decides that, feud or no feud, she needs to tell Chelle the truth.

'Carla has seen Robert buying steroids,' adds Alison King, who plays Carla. 'She's also seen bruises on Michelle's arms and him acting in an aggressive manner towards Michelle, so she's worried for her friend, first and foremost.'

Michelle's horrified – it wasn't all that long ago that Robert blew their money at the casino, and now he's keeping another big secret from her. Robert insists he's given the steroids up – but is he telling her the truth?

● See our interview with Kym Marsh and Alison King on page 6.

Is Abi stalking Eileen?

Eileen's not exactly full of the joys of Spring right now – discovering your husband is a killer would knock the wind out of one's sails. She tries to cheer herself up by cleaning and making a meal for her and Summer, but her spirits take a battering when she discovers nasty comments have been written about her online, and later her car tyres are slashed!

Eileen finds a surprise friend in Seb's mum, Abi, and lets her stay the night when she turns up out of the blue – but then someone swipes her spare house keys from the back yard. Is Abi responsible? Or is the tormentor someone else entirely?

Plot: Rana is duped by mum Saira

Against her will!

Rana's parents hatch a plot to abduct her when they discover she's still seeing Kate

Kate and Yasmien race to the airport

It looks like Rana's leaving on a jet plane. And if her mother and father have anything to do with it, she won't be back again. Confused? The nurse's strict Muslim parents, Saira and Hassan, are livid when they discover she's still sleeping with

“They feel betrayed over the fact Rana has broken the terms of the contract”

Kate Connor, and come up with a plot to pack her off to Pakistan.

The pair discovered earlier in the year that their daughter was having a lesbian affair.

Desperate to keep up appearances, they persuaded her to stay with husband Zeedan, in return for them handing over cash to allow Zee to open his own restaurant.

Since then, Zeedan and Rana have been playing the roles of loved-up newlyweds – but behind closed doors, Rana and Kate have continued their relationship.

They arrange a liaison at the Nazir house this week when Zeedan goes on an errand. But as they get down to business, Alya walks in with Saira and Hassan in tow. Alya's gobsmacked, while Saira and Hassan are sickened.

‘They’re disgusted, and feel betrayed over the fact that Rana's broken the terms of the contract,’ reveals Bhavna Limbachia, who plays Rana. ‘They take drastic measures to make sure Rana and Kate can't be together.’

Before long, Saira returns to No.6, bearing ‘bad news’. Her sister – Rana's aunt – is dying, and she needs to go to Pakistan to visit. And – blub, blub – Hassan won't go with her, so she has to travel all that way on her own.

Rana takes the bait, and offers to tag along. ‘She's willing to do anything to win back her family's love,’ explains Bhavna.

Thankfully, Yasmien smells a rat and asks Imran if he'll check out the family's claims that his and Rana's relative is on her last legs. Surprise surprise, it's a load of bolognese. But by that time, Rana is on her way to the airport.

Realising that Rana's been royally duped, Yasmien, Kate, Imran and Zeedan set off in hot pursuit. Can they stop Rana from boarding the plane?

CORRIE EXTRA

Zeedan Nazir will be bowing out of Weatherfield later this year. Actor Qasim Akhtar has decided to quit Corrie to pursue other opportunities. Zeedan's leaving story hasn't be revealed, but it's thought it will be connected to his failed marriage to nurse Rana.

Meanwhile, it's been revealed that Ryan Prescott is joining the cast to play Ryan Connor – the son Michelle brought up as her own, and later discovered wasn't biologically hers. Ryan previously played Aaron Dingle's boyfriend Flynn in Emmerdale.

Liv in court

On trial: Liv and Gabby face an uncertain future

The wayward teen is sentenced for spiking Lisa's drink. Will she get locked up? And if so, how will the Dingles deal with 'grass' Lisa?

Poor Liv's a nervous wreck as she heads to court for spiking Lisa's drink, but she's not the only one feeling the strain. So, too, is partner-in-crime Gabby, whilst over in the public gallery, Lisa is fretting like a turkey at Christmas... She broke the biggest rule in the Dingle codebook by grassing up Liv to the police and, though she's now seen the error of her ways, that's no consolation to her disgusted family.

All will no doubt be forgiven if Liv escapes a stint in a Young Offender Institution – but that's a very big 'if', because the way things are looking, there's more chance of Zak turning vegan. Liv's solicitor is assigned to another case, so another legal eagle is drafted in, and he refuses to allow Lisa to speak up on Liv's behalf.

'Lisa forgave Liv and she wants to tell the court that she's a good girl, really,' says Jane Cox, who plays Lisa. 'She feels sorry for her.'

To make things worse, the new solicitor isn't up to speed on the case, so much so that he gets Liv's name wrong. He then upsets her further by mentioning her abusive father, Gordon. By the time Liv is given the chance to plead her case, she's in too much of a state to talk.

Emmerdale bosses aren't revealing the outcome, but it's clear things haven't gone well judging by the tension between Zak and Lisa. 'Zak won't talk to Lisa on the way home,' explains Jane, 'and when they get back, he turns on her for having called the police. He says she's not fit to be a Dingle any more.'

Lisa's heartbroken as Zak storms off, and the upset takes its toll as she ends up keeling over. Belle arrives in the nick of time and gets her mum to hospital, where there's good and bad news. The doctor reveals that it's an angina attack rather than another heart attack, but tells Lisa to avoid stress, because if she has another heart attack it could kill her.

So Lisa makes a huge decision. Will she call time on her and Zak's relationship for good?

Bob still blindly believes that fiancée Brenda doesn't have a clue about his affair with Laurel – so he's gobsmacked when Laurel reveals that Brenda has in fact known for ages.

Laurel discovered last week that Brenda had rumbled them, and has promised her neighbour she'll steer clear of Bob from now on. Laurel sticks to the rules, but she and Bob are thrown together when Bob pays her a visit, and confides in her that he thinks Brenda's brain tumour is back.

It's the discovery of a secret cupboard that sends Bob's mind into overdrive.

'Brenda complains of a headache, so he tells her to relax and to go to the cinema with Cathy, and he'll do the wedding invites,' explains Tony Audenshaw, who plays him. 'When he realises he doesn't have the guest list, Heath tells him that it might be in Brenda's secret cupboard.'

'He opens the cupboard and a load of random stuff comes pouring out. He puts all the clues together. She's distracted, she's got headaches, and maybe she's stealing again. The last time she was stealing, it was because of the tumour.'

Bob confronts Brenda, but she brushes him off, leaving him

Worried: Bob questions Brenda

In denial: Bob doesn't believe Laurel

She knows!

Laurel tells a shocked Bob that Brenda has rumbled their affair feeling worried. And he becomes even more concerned when she later gives young Arthur money for a school trip.

'He sees Brenda and Laurel arguing about it,' adds Tony. 'He thinks Brenda is out of order, so he decides to go round to Laurel's and says: "I'm sorry about Brenda; I shouldn't really say this, but I think her cancer may be back."

Laurel points out that it isn't true, and Brenda's strange behaviour is due to her having found out about their fling. Where does Bob go from here?

Panic: Ross is told he doesn't need more pills

Ross on the edge

Dr Cavanagh has good news for Ross – his face is healing well following his recent skin graft. But Ross is desperate to get his hands on some more painkillers, and is anxious when he is refused another course. Meanwhile, back at home making Moses' lunch, Ross doesn't notice his son with his pack of pills. Will the little lad swallow any? And if he does, will it force Ross to face up to his addiction?

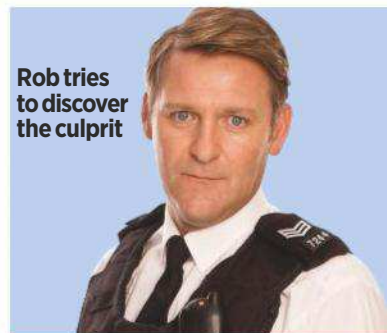

Catfight: Scarlett and Mandy

HOLLYOAKS

Mandy may have ended things with Darren, but now there's another threat to her and Luke's marriage – his sultry ex, Scarlett. She's desperate to win him back, and turns up at his birthday bash with an expensive gift. Luke insists he's not interested, but Scarlett convinces son Ollie that she and his dad belong together. He then tells Mandy that he suspects Luke is boozing again. Mandy thinks Ollie is right when she smells Luke's drink, and Luke storms off when she doesn't believe that he's not.

Elsewhere, Milo steals cash to give to Theo – only to be caught by Dirk. And a special episode on Thursday follows Peri's journey as a homeless teen.

Rob tries to discover the culprit

DOCTORS

As the staff survey the damage following The Campus surgery arson attack, Rob tries to work out whodunit, and soon has a prime suspect courtesy of Rich, who claims that Charlie, the new receptionist, is the guilty culprit. After all, her last place of work went up in flames, and her hoodie was found at the scene...

Elsewhere, Sid sends Valerie on a sleep trial when her insomnia gets worse, and forces Al to go along, too. And Karen is worried about her latest foster child, James, a teenager obsessed with obeying rules.

DALES EXTRA

Michael Parr (Ross) says he's struggled with his acid-attack storyline, because he's been constantly worried about getting things wrong. 'I've not felt very confident in my performance,' he tells us. 'I've done a lot of research, but there's no way you can get into the mindset of someone with those injuries. As an actor, you can escape it, but for a real victim it's constantly there.'

Vincent the grass

Desperate for cash, he tells the cops about Aidan and Phil's involvement in the heist

We were hoping that those two words – ‘the heist’ – would never appear in TV Times’

EastEnders coverage again, such are the memories of sheer boredom they conjure up. But three months on from that New Year drivel, we’re back there thanks to Vincent Hubbard, who decides to grass up Aidan Maguire and Phil Mitchell.

Though Aidan was sent packing from the Square some weeks ago by Phil, Mick and cronies, the damage he caused remains. The Irish rogue forced Vincent to hand over The Albert, meaning the Hubbards are stoney broke. Other residents might set up a market stall or get a job in Ian’s chippy, but with the mortgage to pay on Hubbard Towers and wife Kim’s shopping trips to fund, Vincent needs serious dough and decides to return to his old ‘job’ as a police informant.

Meeting up with DI Franklin, Vincent tells the cop that Aidan was the ringleader, and Phil was involved. He’s even brought a recording of a conversation with Phil as proof. But Franklin tells him it’s not enough.

‘DI Franklin wants to do things properly; to have something on Phil which will bang him up for a long time,’ reveals our EastEnders insider. ‘He’s relying on Vincent to help him, and hands him an envelope full of money as a down payment.’

Before you can say ‘wonga’, Vincent is pumping Phil for information on what happened to Luke Browning. Viewers know that Willmott-Brown’s son got some proper punishment for beating up Ben, and is now six feet under somewhere. But will Phil tell Vincent that?

Unsurprisingly, it’s a ‘no’ and Vincent’s gutted to reach a dead end. But his frustration turns to panic when he’s then told that he has 24 hours to get the information or he risks going to jail himself.

As Phil winds Vincent up, Kim becomes suspicious about her husband’s behaviour. Vincent promises to tell her everything but she’s gobsmacked when he later drops a huge bombshell. Is he headed for HMP Walford, leaving Kim a single mum?

Pumped up: Vincent tries to entrap Phil

FRIDAY

■ Vincent drops a bombshell on Kim ■ Ian passes off Masood’s business idea as his own ■ Stacey is relieved to hear Kat arranging to see her kids ■ A mysterious man, Bijan, arrives in the Square

There's been something fishy about Kat Moon since she returned to Albert Square – and we're not just talking about the fact that those terrible scars she had, after being burnt in a fire in 2014, have miraculously disappeared. She's barely mentioned her three boys, Tommy, Bert and Ernie. At this rate, she'd struggle to pick them out of a police line-up.

None of this has gone unnoticed by Stacey, who decides to take matters into her own hands this week and get her cousin reunited with her kids.

Kat does, at least, remember that she has children – because we were starting to wonder – and an encounter with Masood's Uncle Arshad is just the ticket to get those memories flowing. She bumps into the pensioner while he's taking his and Mariam's foster son, Harley, for a stroll in the pram. As she coos over the tot, she fondly thinks about her own brood.

This leaves Stacey bemused, and she quizzes Kat as to why she hasn't paid her boys a visit. Kat gives a vague response, and when Lies: Will Kat see her sons?

Concerned: Stacey asks Kat why she hasn't seen her boys

What's Kat hiding?

Stacey's suspicious about her cousin's failure to visit her kids

Stacey shares her concerns with Mo, the two women hatch a plan to get Kat and her nippers reunited.

Kat's fuming when she discovers that Stacey has been in touch with Alfie, but after the two women have had a heart-to-heart, she seems to turn a corner. Much to Stacey's relief, she makes arrangements to see her lads, and later calls Stacey to tell her that she's taken them to the cinema. But is all as it seems?

Accused: But is Michelle innocent?

Hands off Hunter!

Mel has arranged for Hunter to have some private tuition with ex-teacher Michelle Fowler. But things don't go to plan – when Michelle turns up at Mel's place, she catches Hunter with Louise. She agrees to keep their secret and tells Mel she can't go on with the lessons, only for Mel to say Hunter told her she tried to kiss him. Chelle protests her innocence, but how long will it be till she leaves Walford for a fresh start?

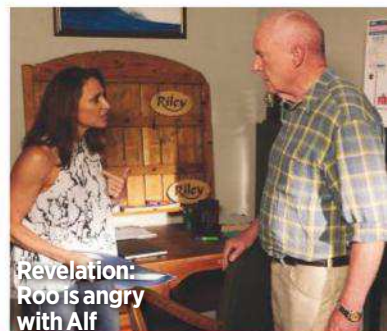

Struggle: Lockie makes a move on Piper

NEIGHBOURS

Carried away with the romantic notion of finding the person who's been underlining passages in novels she's been getting from the book exchange, Piper chases a lead and heads to the city. But when she meets a barman called Lockie, she realises she's got the wrong guy – then things get sinister, with the scary sleaze locking the door and trying to force himself on her. The next morning, Terese is worried when Piper doesn't return home...

Elsewhere, Mishti's mate Monique arrives in Erinsborough and clashes with Leo, and Paul convinces Jane to launch the 'Face of Lassiters' campaign – but her prudish attitude soon proves to be a problem.

Revelation: Roo is angry with Alf

HOME & AWAY

Roo remains at odds with Alf following his revelation that her mum, Martha, is still alive. When she asks Colby to search for info, the cop is adamant that the police investigation at the time was thorough, and questions if the letter Alf gave her is a hoax. Guilty Alf gives his daughter her mum's old ring, and when John notices the name of the jewellery shop it came from on the box, he discovers the store is still going. Armed with an address to a store in Merimbula, Roo heads off to look for her mother – but what will she find?

Elsewhere, Ash is angry when Robbo is released on bail, while Justin clashes with Dean over his connection to Willow.

OUR PICKS OF THE WEEK

FRIDAY

Before the fall: Franco

127 Hours

C4 1.00am - 2.35am ★★★★★

BIOPIC ADVENTURE

Director Danny Boyle's true-life adventure drama is not a film for the faint-hearted. The story of US climber Aron Ralston's notorious ordeal in Utah's Blue John canyon in April 2003 was global news when the brash young thrill-seeker (played by James Franco) was forced to cut off his hand after a boulder pinned his right arm to a canyon wall. Boyle deploys his hyper-kinetic style of film-making to turn Ralston's experience into a compelling movie. And Franco has both the charisma and the acting talent to portray the man at the heart of the tale, conveying adrenaline-junkie Ralston's cockiness and restless energy, but convincing you of his intelligence and ingenuity, too.

WESTERN ▶ There isn't a white hat to be seen in this grimly realistic Western starring Tommy Lee Jones and Hilary Swank, and the most heroic character wears a bonnet not a Stetson. The setting is the harsh plains of 1850s Nebraska where the hardships of frontier life have driven three local women mad. Swank's pioneer volunteers to escort the women back east towards 'civilisation' in Iowa, into the care of minister's wife Meryl Streep, and ropes in Jones's claim-jumper for the five-week journey. There are flashes of dark humour, but for the most part this odd-couple drama is as bleak as the unforgiving terrain the characters cross in a makeshift wooden wagon. A dark, difficult, prickly film that won't be to all tastes but which contains depths of compassion.

ACTION ADVENTURE► In the snowy wilds of Finland, a 13-year-old boy armed with a bow and arrow proves the unlikely saviour of Samuel L Jackson's imperilled US president in this uneven but engaging adventure. Onni Tammila's youngster, the puny son of a legendary local hunter, is striving to complete a coming-of-age ritual by spending 24 hours alone in the mountains when the president's escape pod, ejected from Air Force One during an attack, crashes to earth near his camp. With bazooka-wielding terrorists on the duo's trail, the ensuing action is reliably ridiculous, but Tammila's plucky boy and Jackson's hapless president make an amusing double act. Dir: Jalmari Helander 2014, 12, 100min

The Fighter

AMC from BT

9.00pm - 11.15pm ★★★★★

Satellite DRAMA► Based on a remarkable true story, the sheer power of the acting in this superior boxing drama elevates it into something special. Mark Wahlberg plays 'Irish' Micky Ward, a boxer in early-1990s Massachusetts whose career is on the ropes, while Christian Bale plays his crack-addicted half-brother Dicky, who insists on acting as his trainer. Wahlberg is less flashy than his co-stars, yet it is his convincing performance that gives the film its punch. Dir: David O Russell 2010, 15, 135min

A Royal Night Out

C5 2.45pm - 4.40pm ★★★

PERIOD DRAMA

A diverting entertainment based on a footnote from royal history – the moment on VE Day, 1945, when teenage princesses Elizabeth and Margaret briefly slipped the shackles of royal protocol to join the throngs of Londoners celebrating the end of the war. Inventing some mildly risqué adventures for the pair, this is a breezy, amiable period drama. Sarah Gadon is a dutiful Elizabeth and Bel Powley the pleasure-seeking Margaret. Dir: Julian Jarrold 2014, 12, 115min

COMEDY DRAMA

Chocolat director Lasse Hallström serves up the cinematic equivalent of comfort food with this culinary culture-clash comedy. The film may be cosy and predictable but it goes down a treat. The setting is a small, picturesque village in the south of France where Helen Mirren's snooty, Michelin-starred restaurant goes head-to-head with Om Puri's new Indian eatery in a tit-for-tat battle of wills. Dir: Lasse Hallström 2014, PG, 135min

ACTION► Terrorists in Russia have hijacked nuclear weapons so George Clooney's special forces agent has to team up with Nicole Kidman's scientist to track them down. Plotwise we may have seen it all before, but this slickly made, intelligent action movie boasts big stars plus plenty of edge-of-seat drama. SUNDAY 15 April

Gerry meets a fellow animal-lover

The Durrells

● DRAMA / 8pm / ITV

Louisa's gripped by the green-eyed monster tonight as Spiro announces he's busy driving a new family around the island. The Italian visitors have a beautiful villa, stylish clothes and lots of charm and Spiro has taken a real shine to them. A disgruntled Louisa resolves to learn more about her rivals and drags her children with her to befriend them.

But as soon as the two families meet she realises there's something very wrong with her new neighbours... Can she work out the real reason they've come to Corfu? Meanwhile, Larry and Leslie decide to volunteer for the local fire service, with disastrous results, and Gerry develops a crush on a teenage girl who shares his love of animals. ★★★★★ EB

Chelsea and England midfielder Katie Chapman

CHELSEA LADIES V MAN CITY WOMEN

FA Women's Cup

● FOOTBALL / 3pm / BBC2

LIVE These two teams are having a fantastic season: scrapping for the Women's Super League 1 title, both in the Women's Champion League semi-final (leading to the possibility of an all-England final) and now this game (k-o 3.30pm) to decide who plays in the FA Women's Cup final. Chelsea captain Katie Chapman has seen plenty of success and her skill as a defensive midfielder will be crucial to stopping City. Will this make one team's stellar season, or will the spoils of victory be shared? ★★★★★ NP

Dr Ruby tends victims

Good Karma Hospital

● DRAMA / 9pm / ITV

The team faces its toughest test yet when a building collapses in Barco, injuring scores of people. Ruby is desperate to save one trapped survivor, yet feels conflicted when she discovers a dark secret from his past. HMS Queen Elizabeth on sea trials

Britain's Biggest Warship

● DOCUMENTARY / 8pm / BBC2

NEW Her Majesty has done her fair share of naming ships, but never one as big as this – HMS Queen Elizabeth, Britain's largest and most advanced warship ever. This three-part documentary tells its story, from construction to rigorous safety tests, in a series three years in the making. Thwarted by financial constraints, technical difficulties and bad weather, it's not been plain sailing, but the aircraft carrier will be in service for the next 50 years, and will serve as home to 700 sailors. The first episode sees it leaving the dock for the first time with only 30cm to spare either side of the gate. Let's hope it has parking sensors. ★★★ LP

Harry and Meghan

Meghan Markle Night

● DOCUMENTARY / from 8pm / C5

NEW C5 go Meghan mad this evening, with three programmes dedicated to the future wife of Prince Harry. First up, Meghan Markle: The First 100 Days, then (9pm) Meghan and Harry: In Their Own Words. And finally (10pm), Meghan stars in a premiere of the 2016 TV movie Dater's Handbook. ★★★ SM

Shock revelations as the Agatha Christie whodunit concludes

● DRAMA / 9pm / BBC1

LAST ONE Well, the Argylls have proved themselves to be a pretty dodgy bunch indeed, haven't they? Now, as the superb Agatha Christie thriller comes to a devastating conclusion, a worn-down Leo rightly says, 'Everything is coming home to roost', and all of the family's (very iffy!) secrets are spilling out of their closets like there's no tomorrow. But as poor Calgary reflects on the can of worms he has opened up for them all, he finds himself in danger... When the truth at last comes to light about Rachel's complex relationships with each member of her household and the events that led up to her murder, some shocking new potential motives are unveiled. But who is the real killer? ★★★★★ CC

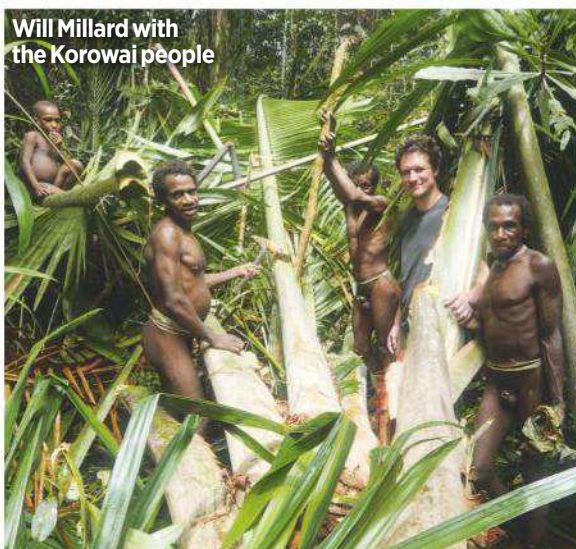

The team think they've found a real treasure

Antiques Roadshow

● ANTIQUES / 8pm / BBC1

NEW There's usually a 'well I never' moment on Antiques Roadshow but tonight's is one of the standouts in a series that stretches back to the late 1970s. It comes in the shape of a pear blossom sculpture, made of gold, diamond and jade, which turns up when the team visit the Black Country Living Museum in Dudley. Could it be Fabergé? 'My pulse was racing at the sight of it,' says jewellery expert Geoffrey Munn. ★★★★★ SM

Will Millard with the Korowai people

My Year with the Tribe

● DOCUMENTARY / 9pm / BBC2

NEW Will Millard wants to spend a year living with the Korowai tribe of West Papua. And the explorer thinks he has found the perfect family after meeting treehouse-dwelling Markus, his two wives and five children. But as this series begins, Will discovers the tribe is accustomed to tourists and film crews, and the diet of grubs and rat's testicles is for the cameras. Can Will find a non-Disneyland version of tribal living? ★★★★★ LP

Monday Highlights

MONDAY 16 April

The SOS team are ready to help desperate pet owners

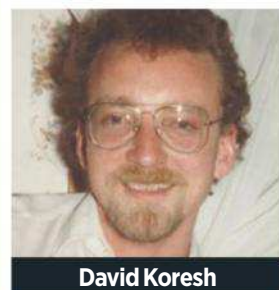

Bad kitty! Rupert

Nightmare Pets SOS

● REAL LIFE / 7.30pm (not Scotland & Wales) / BBC1

NEW As a nation we're pretty potty about animals, but unruly pets actually cost £4bn in damage to our homes each year and bad behaviour is the number one reason for rehoming animals. To help desperate owners with their nightmare pets, a crisis centre staffed by vets and behavioural experts has been specially set up for this new series – and first through the doors are Jo and Tony, whose parrot Archie is so aggressive that Jo has ended up in A&E with severe wounds from his vicious beak. The team are also on hand to help Pupagano, a dog with a phobia of the outdoors, and give advice to new mum Hannah, whose cat Rupert has a habit of peeing everywhere, including on her baby's toys! ★★★★★ HD

David Koresh

Waco Inferno: Untold Story

● DOCUMENTARY / 10pm / C5

NEW Twenty-five years ago this week, cult leader David Koresh perished in an apocalyptic fire at his commune in Waco, Texas, along with 75 of his followers – 24 of them British. This film features five former sect members, among them Derek Lovelock from Manchester, who gives a compelling account of life under Koresh's spell. ★★★★★ MC

Karren Brady follows new business owners

Give It a Year

● REAL LIFE / 8pm (times vary, not Scotland) / ITV

NEW Dragons' Den meets This Time Next Year in this new series, which follows The Apprentice's Karren Brady visiting newbie entrepreneurs as they launch businesses. After giving them life-changing advice, Karren then strides off, returning a year later to find out if the dream is still alive. Tonight's hopefuls are the timid but talented Sarah, who wants to expand her illuminated letters company, and Thomas, the know-it-all mug manufacturer funding his business through poker winnings... Karren certainly doesn't mince her words when Thomas tries to defend his overpriced product! ★★★★★ EB

● How to be your own boss: see page 21

West Ham's Javier Hernández

WEST HAM UNITED V STOKE CITY

Premier League

● FOOTBALL / 7pm / Sky Sports Premier League

LIVE It looks as if West Ham might be pulling away from a relegation scrap. Tonight they host Stoke (k-o 8.00pm), a team mired in the bottom three and unable to get out. The Hammers have goals in Javier Hernández and Marko Arnautovic, an enormous help to manager David Moyes, who has not really had a seismic effect on West Ham since joining them. But if he can get them to the middle of the table, it's something he can build on for next season. ★★★ NP

Would you buy it?

Buy It Now

● BUSINESS / 5.30pm / C4

NEW This weekday series presented by Brian Conley sees entrepreneurs pitch their products to a studio audience and three major retailers. They have 90 seconds and if they're successful the major retailers have a chance to put in a big-bucks order. This first episode sees a problem-solving gadget for people in a tangle, a cutlery set for toddlers and a pets' hairbrush by a royal hairdresser. ★★★ JL

Sir David Attenborough with the Queen

David Attenborough meets the Queen to talk about her vision for preserving forests

● DOCUMENTARY / 9pm / ITV

NEW What happened when Sir David Attenborough and Queen Elizabeth took a stroll round the gardens of Buckingham Palace last Summer? All is revealed in this one-off documentary made to celebrate a new initiative called The Queen's Commonwealth Canopy, which is committed to preserving natural habitats across the 52 nations of the Commonwealth for future generations. It's certainly a worthy venture, but what's more interesting is eavesdropping on what these two venerable figures – who were born within a month of each other in 1926 – chat about as they take a turn around the Palace grounds. ★★★★★ IM

● The Queen's trees: see page 8

The Queen's Green Planet

Chris Bavin with Usk gardener Marion Powell

Britain in Bloom

● REAL LIFE / 6.30pm / BBC2

NEW It was a long time coming but Spring seems finally to have sprung. Which means that around the country, communities are preparing for the Royal Horticultural Society's annual Britain in Bloom competition. This weekday series sees former flower trader Chris Bavin visiting 15 of them, kicking off today in Usk, Monmouthshire – aka the 'Town of Flowers' – to see how one of the front-runners prepares. ★★★★★ SM

The recruits graduate to assassin training

Secret Agent Selection

● REALITY / 9pm / BBC2

The reality show for people who can't stand them takes the brave rookies and teaches them to become World War Two assassins this week. From 'gutter fighting' techniques, including eye-gouging and testicle-crushing, to the 'double tap' method of shooting, it's utterly fascinating stuff. And it's made more urgent by the use of 1940s footage showing actual Special Ops Executive recruits being put through the same paces. ★★★★★ SM

ALSO ON...

The Walking Dead

● DRAMA / 9pm / FOX

LAST ONE With a new series already in production, series eight concludes with the communities squaring off against the Savivors. ★★★★★

The Secret Helpers

● REAL LIFE / 7pm (not Scotland) / BBC2

TUESDAY 17 April

Charlie (left) swaps phones for fishing, and Katie (inset) becomes a cowgirl

Paradise Hunters

● REAL LIFE / 9pm / C4

NEW Bored of the nine-to-five routine, Katie and Charlie are looking for adventure. But do this pair have what it takes to hand in their notice, leave everything they know behind and head off in search of their dream lifestyles? Katie, 35, works in an office in London. She's giving it all up to work as a ranch hand in Mexico –

despite not having ridden horses since she was a teenager. Meanwhile, Charlie, 25, works in a Brighton call centre. In search of fulfillment and happiness, Charlie moves to far away but beautiful Ullapool in Scotland to work as a salmon farmer. But is swapping the office for their dream job everything it's cracked up to be? ★★★ JL

A big night for Brighton manager Chris Hughton

BRIGHTON V TOTTENHAM HOTSPUR

Premier League

● FOOTBALL / 7.30pm / Sky Sports Premier League

LIVE At the time of writing, Brighton seem to have just about steered clear of a relegation scrap, but still need points to make sure, so playing Tottenham today (k-o 7.45pm) isn't ideal. Manager Chris Hughton's boys have had some big results – like beating Arsenal in early March – but have struggled for wins of late. Spurs are looking to solidify their place in the Top Four and, with only three matches left in the League this season, will not want any slip-ups this late in the game. ★★★ NP

Chris gets Cunked

Cunk on Britain

● COMEDY / 10pm (times vary) / BBC2

Philomena Cunk (Diane Morgan) begins this week's straight-faced history lesson with a ponder on the Georgian era, when 'all kings had to be named George', before quizzing Chris Packham on Darwin's theory of evolution ('how fast could you turn a pig into a cow?'). Brilliantly funny but with subtle commentary, too. ★★★★★ EP

Julia (left) gets told off for having a tea break!

Class of Mum and Dad

● DOCUMENTARY / 8pm / C4

There are broken school rules and classroom disagreements in tonight's look behind the scenes at Blackrod Primary School in Bolton, as the mums and dads of class 6M continue to find out the hard way what school life is really like for their children. Troublemaker dad Jonny gets sent to headteacher

Mr Dryburgh for flouting uniform regulations and not doing his homework, while Julia gets told off for making tea in the kitchen by class teacher Mrs Mead. Meanwhile, there's a major fallout in the classroom that threatens to spoil the school's biggest annual fundraising event – the summer fair... ★★★★★ HD

Julian looks sheepish

Yorkshire Vet

● DOCUMENTARY / 8pm / C5

NEW We return to Skeldale Veterinary Centre in North Yorkshire as vets Peter Wright and Julian Norton continue to treat all creatures great and small. The first call for Peter is to sheep farmer Keith, who has a pregnant ewe in a bad way. While Julian treats Griff, a terrier who's eaten a ball, Peter tackles a tricky case involving a wallaby with a sore paw at an animal park. ★★★★★ JL

Will the judges go nuts for Linzi and Jason's wares?

Chef Tom Kerridge helps artisan foodies sell their creations in a new competition

● FOOD / 8pm / BBC2

NEW Michelin-starred TV chef Tom Kerridge is a champion of the country's food entrepreneurs – and what better way to encourage them than to host a 12-week competition to find the nation's 'best up-and-coming artisan', with 28 contestants who make everything from pâté to chocolates. There will be seven categories, kicking off with preserves, pickles and spreads, with four producers selling their wares for two days in Tom's shop in Malhamdale in the Yorkshire Dales. As well as winning over the locals, they must impress judges Nisha Katona and Alison Swan Parente in order to get a place in the final. Continues tomorrow. ★★★★★ MC

Transformation queen Davina

This Time Next Year

● REAL LIFE / 8pm / ITV

To her credit, Davina McCall resists the urge to shout 'What a transformation!' when people walk through the 'Next Year' doors. This week's stories of hope and hard work include Denise from Wigan, who sadly never learned to read. Denise intends to remedy this so she can tell her grandsons bedtime stories. Davina also meets Ben, who's planning a proposal with a difference, having lost his confidence after a sudden onset of alopecia. ★★★★★ ER

Stephen...

● DOCUMENTARY / 9pm / BBC1

NEW ...The Murder That Changed a Nation. It's been 25 years since 18-year-old black student Stephen Lawrence was murdered by a group of white boys in south London. But Stephen's killers have only recently been convicted. This three-part documentary follows his family's fight for justice, which led to a change in the law and police reform. Continues Wednesday and Thursday. ★★★★★ SMA

● SCI-FI / 9pm / FOX

NEW With movie hits and this TV smash, Dan Stevens hasn't been short of work since Downton – here's his superhero series back for round two. ★★★★★

● DOCUMENTARY / 9pm / Sky Arts

NEW As the series returns, Billy Connolly visits Cookham to see what inspired Stanley Spencer. ★★★★★

A far-from-magic moment for Monty, Sammy and Joyce

Benidorm

● COMEDY / 9pm / ITV

Joyce is not at all happy with Monty for hiring the utterly bonkers Sammy Valentino (a startlingly tanned Shane Richie) and giving him a contract to do two shows a week for a year. She fires her hapless husband but still needs a cunning plan to get rid of Sammy... Elsewhere, Billy and Sharon are over the moon about Robert and Cyd's engagement, but the thought of possibly becoming grandparents suddenly makes them feel old – so they head off into town to relive the good old days. Finally, Pauline sobers up for just long enough to be horrified at her 'erotic' novel. She heads off to tell Auntie Doreen it can never be published, but gets a shock when she meets Doreen's new boyfriend. ★★★ JL

Miranda Barbour

Serial Killer or Liar?

● DOCUMENTARY / BBC3

NEW Sex, Satanism and murder in the US are the ingredients of this film about Miranda Barbour, who confessed to stabbing municipal worker Troy LaFerrara 'in self defence'. That wasn't the whole story – Miranda's husband, Elytte, claimed his wife, a Satanist, had killed more than 22 others. No bodies have been found, so did the couple make it all up? ★★★★★ SM

Cunanan is menaced by his abusive father

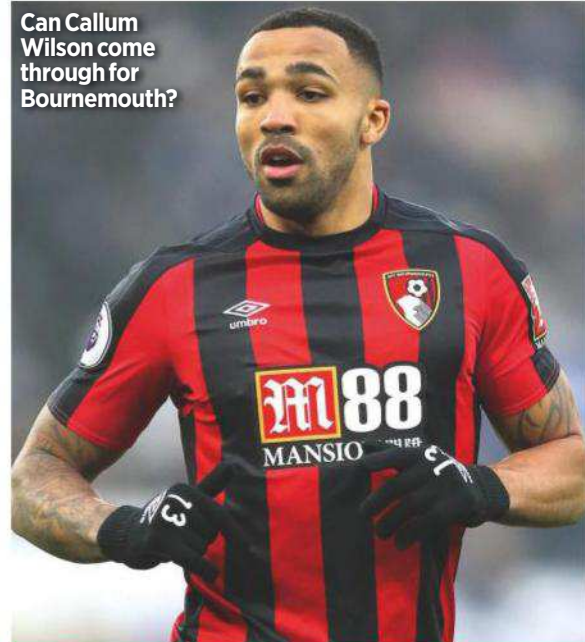

Assassination of Gianni Versace

● DRAMA / 9pm / BBC2

Does a tempestuous childhood make you an unhinged adult? It's certainly suggested this set young Andrew Cunanan on his way to become an adult serial killer. The drama goes back to the 1980s when he was a child living in California with an abusive father, which led to extreme attention-seeking at school and a violent end to his relationship with his dad. The same episode also shows Gianni Versace's unhappy childhood in 1950s Italy, when he was baited at school for being a sissy. But at least Gianni had an understanding mother, a dressmaker who encouraged him. Definitely an episode for child psychologists to pick over. ★★★★★ NC

Can Callum Wilson come through for Bournemouth?

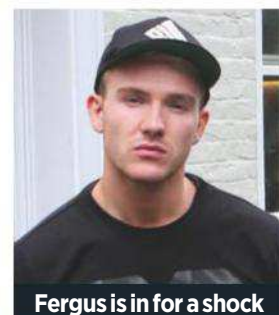

BOURNEMOUTH V MANCHESTER UNITED

Premier League

● FOOTBALL / 7pm / BT Sport 1

LIVE Bournemouth looked shaky at one point, but the south coasters are now looking at a very respectable mid-table finish to the season. They've beaten Chelsea and Arsenal, but will need to bring their A game if they want to take points from Manchester United (k-o 7.45pm). Flanked by Josh King and super-sub Jermain Defoe, Cherries' Callum Wilson will need to rediscover his winter form, but will he get the chance tonight to put one over United goalie David de Gea? ★★★ NP

Fergus is in for a shock

Rich Kids Go Skint

● REAL LIFE / 9pm / 5STAR

NEW This series does pretty much what it says on the tin. Tonight we meet Fergus, 23, who lives in Chelsea. He wears a Rolex, doesn't work, drives a fancy car, eats in posh restaurants and spends his dad's money without a thought. How will he fare when he stays with Anna, a single mum living on the breadline in Croydon? ★★★ JL

Zoo life: an orangutan mother and child and, inset, a vampire crab

Secret Life of the Zoo

Chester Zoo's finest are in the mood for love – or not!

● DOCUMENTARY / 8pm / C4

NEW

Narrated again by Olivia Colman, this delightful,

BAFTA-nominated series returns with more amazing stories from Chester Zoo. Breeding couple Beagle and Huskie have been brought together in the hope of starting a meerkat mob. But they're put off by their messy housemates, three armadillos, and a new honeymoon suite needs to be found! Meanwhile, (surprisingly cute!) vampire crabs Janet and John have trouble breeding, and the zoo's newly arrived two-horned chameleons are also struggling. Confident Charles is shown his own reflection to put him in the mood, but why is picky Ruby shunning his affections? ★★★★★ CC

● You're having a giraffe! See page 18

Jaina Lee Ortiz as fire officer Andrea 'Andy' Herrera

Station 19

● DRAMA / 10pm / Sky Living

NEW This Grey's Anatomy spin-off transplants the action from a hospital to a firehouse, but the formula is the same. The firefighters are dedicated to their jobs, but less certain when it comes to affairs of the heart. Lead firefighter Andrea 'Andy' Herrera is wrong-footed by an unexpected marriage proposal – and the discovery that her dad has cancer. Luckily, rescuing people from burning buildings is a good distraction... ★★★★★ JE

The Runaways' runaway success starts here

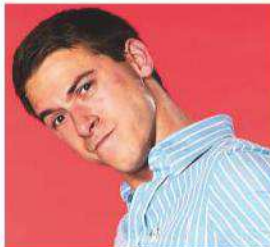

Marvel's Runaways

● DRAMA / from 9pm / SyFy

NEW What would you do if you and your friends discovered your parents were supervillains?

That's the thrust of this adaptation of one of Marvel's quirkier comic-book series. The group of teens (including Gregg Sulkin and Virginia Gardner) make the shocking discovery, starting a train of events which helps them unlock their own special powers. A hit in the US, it's great fun, and series two is already being lined up. ★★★★★ NP

ALSO ON...

First Dates

● REAL LIFE / 10pm / C4

Among the hopeful romantics tonight, will charity worker Freddie and fashion buyer Rebecca hit it off? ★★★★★

Watchdog Live

● CONSUMER / 8pm / BBC1

LIVE The consumer crusaders return with a report on parking companies. Are motorists being hit with charges they really shouldn't be paying? ★★★★★

Sherrie gave TV Times an insight into a typical day on set for the cast of the ITV comedy...

'I love filming by the pool, except in March and April when it can be really cold – which is interesting when you're pretending to be sweltering! If the cast have a weekend off, we all go out on a Friday night and go completely mad – there's always karaoke and we don't get back home till 4am!'

Sara, Laszlo and John join forces to catch a serial killer

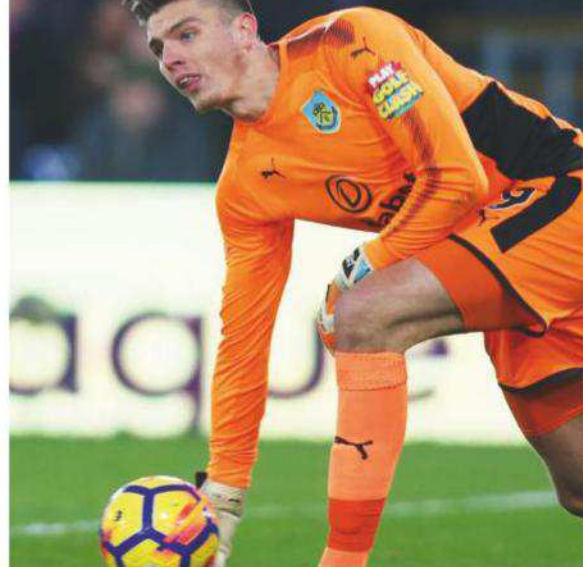

The Alienist

● DRAMA / Netflix

NEW The fascinating early days of psychology and criminal profiling are brought to life in this brilliantly dark crime thriller. The 10-part series, set in late 19th-century New York City, centres on Laszlo Kreizler (Daniel Brühl), a pioneering psychologist, known as an alienist, who becomes intrigued by the motivations of a twisted serial killer mutating and murdering young male prostitutes. As Laszlo investigates, he draws on the help of his friend, newspaper illustrator John Moore (Luke Evans), and spirited Sara Howard (Dakota Fanning), a secretary who works in the city's police department. But as the trio delve further into the Big Apple's sinister underbelly, can they catch the killer? ★★★★★ CC

Burnley goalie Nick Pope

BURNLEY V CHELSEA

Premier League

● FOOTBALL / 7.30pm / Sky Sports Premier League

LIVE What an astonishing season Burnley have had. They've already surpassed anything they've done before in the top flight and have a few more games to push for fifth place and a chance of European football (at the time of writing). Tonight they meet last year's champions (k-o 7.45pm), but Chelsea are a long way from last season's form. A Top Four finish for the Blues is unlikely, so they may have less to play for than Burnley. How much pressure will Clarets keeper Nick Pope be under? ★★★ NP

Jonas Armstrong and Kerry Howard as Geldof and his PA

Urban Myths

● COMEDY / 9pm / Sky Arts

The egos and rivalries surrounding the legendary Live Aid concert in 1985 get the Urban Myths treatment this week. Jonas Armstrong is hilarious as a frazzled Bob Geldof, who faces a multitude of disasters from sound issues to diva tantrums as he tries to get all his troublesome acts on stage. While Midge Ure (a fab turn from Martin Compston) is bitter about Bob hogging the limelight, Elton John (Rufus Jones) is livid that Noel Edmonds crushed his begonias when he collected him in a helicopter, and a spaced-out Status Quo are struggling to remember whether they've performed yet. Only Bob's PA Marsha (Kerry Howard) is on hand to try to keep him sane! ★★★★★ CC

What's scared Bill?

True Horror

● DOCU-DRAMA / 10pm / C4

NEW In the first of a four-part series of dramatised true tales, Liz and her artist partner Bill move to a rural idyll in Wales. Bill has a studio and Liz takes in rescue animals. They have a child and a second is born a year later. Then their world starts to implode. A dark presence enters the old farm house, Bill's work suffers, and the animals begin to die... What is plaguing them? ★★★ MC

When a mother-son bond breaks, a call to the emergency services beckons...

● DOCUMENTARY / 9pm / C4

NEW A recent study found that a mother is the most powerful factor in determining what kind of man her son will become. But with hundreds of offences committed by sons against their mothers every year, it's clear that this relationship often breaks down. As the sixth series of this behind-the-scenes documentary begins, Wiltshire's emergency services are called out to incidents where blood may be thicker than water, but it doesn't stop it being spilt. From Kendall, 15, trashing his mum Daniell's house, to Robert's hatred of his alcoholic mother's boyfriend, this is a really difficult though undeniably gripping watch. ★★★★★ LP 999: What's Your Emergency?

Donna wants to prove her son Keith's innocence

20 Years on Death Row

● DOCUMENTARY / 10pm / Really

NEW In 1996 Keith Doolin was sentenced to death for the murder of two women in Fresno, California. For 22 years Keith, alongside his family and friends, has protested his innocence. Due to a change in the law there is a real urgency about his case as inmates are now only held on Death Row for so long. As this four-part series begins, Keith's mother, Donna, hires a private detective to help clear her son's name. ★★★ JL

FRIDAY 20 April

Michael with geneticist Richard Trembath and a replica of Joseph Merrick's skeleton

Portillo's Hidden History of Britain

● DOCUMENTARY / 9pm / C5

NEW Michael Portillo starts a four-part series about Britain's abandoned structures with a wander around the Royal London Hospital. Abandoned since 2012 but still standing in London's East End where it was established 250 years ago, the hospital pioneered medical treatment for people too poor to afford it – this was long before the NHS. Wandering around the sombre old place with a torch – and dressed to match (which fans of Mr P's vibrant outfits might be sad to hear) – Portillo hams it up a touch as he relays some of the building's remarkable history. Joseph Merrick, aka the Elephant Man, lived here for four years, and the Jack the Ripper killings happened within yards of its doors. ★★★★★ SM

The Garston family prepare for their challenge

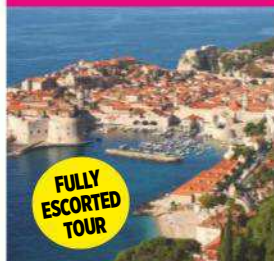

The Button

● GAME SHOW / 8.30pm / BBC1

NEW Cross Gogglebox with Big Brother, add a bit of The Cube for good measure, and you have this new game show. Five families across the UK are set a variety of tasks for the chance to win money in the comfort of their own home. A talking Button (hence the title) goes from green to red when it's time to play; part of the challenge is to notice when it turns red – something the Marchants from Yorkshire find difficult. If nothing else, it's a chance to nose round other people's homes... Comedian and Taskmaster star Alex Horne voices the Button. ★★★ LP

Wild New Zealand: Lost Paradise

● NATURAL WORLD / 8pm / Nat Geo Wild

NEW As their home was the last major land mass to be colonised, the creatures of New Zealand evolved like nothing else on the planet. This documentary introduces some of the country's dazzling array of fauna, which ranges from flightless birds, like the iconic kiwi, to huge longfin eels that migrate over

3,000 miles from freshwater rivers to the sea to mate and die somewhere deep in the Pacific Ocean. We also meet the funny kakapo, a fat, ground-dwelling parrot that sings all night to attract a mate, and there's some great footage of a few of the 13 species of penguin that call the Land of the Long White Cloud home. ★★★ JL

Borlú's in trouble

The City & The City

● DRAMA / 9pm / BBC2

Borlú (David Morrissey) is in hot water after he is caught investigating the archaeological dig without permission and taken by the Ul Qoman Militiya to their headquarters. If that wasn't bad enough, Senior Detective Dhatt (the scene-stealing Maria Schrader) is livid with him for going behind her back. Solid acting and a nicely paced script are making this a thrilling ride. ★★★★★ SS

Johnny Vegas is an unhappy camper in this sweet sitcom

● COMEDY / 9.30pm / BBC1

NEW

After a successful pilot, this fun family comedy is back for a very welcome full series. Johnny Vegas plays bumbling Neil, who is extremely proud to be able to holiday at his very own Lake District lodge. The only issue is that his fellow holidaymakers, posh and super-critical Penny (Emilia Fox proving she has very funny bones) and her genial, ultra-successful husband, Robert (Adam James), cause him untold misery. The opener finds Neil panicking that he's been fired from his job, so when he learns that a mobile phone mast is to be erected next to his lodge (so Penny can get Wi-Fi), his temper gets the better of him and he stages a protest... ★★★★★ CC

Ladies who launch: A few of the Mercury 13

Mercury 13

● DOCUMENTARY / Netflix

NEW Most of us can name a few US astronauts... and they're all men. This lavish feature-length documentary opens the book on a near-forgotten aspect of the space race, telling the story of the women – the Mercury 13 – accomplished pilots all, who were tested to become astronauts in the early 1960s. They never achieved lift-off, we now know, but the women (many still with us) had 'the right stuff' all the same. ★★★★★ SM

Matt and Beverly brainstorm ideas for a sure-fire hit

Episodes

● COMEDY / 10pm / BBC2

As this dry, smart series passes the halfway mark, Carol is back with the gruesome Merc Lapidus, not realising Merc is also seeing the plastic-fantastic Summer on the side. And in a similar triumph of hope over experience, Sean and Beverly are back with Matt, spit-balling ideas for a new show. Matt's thinking in terms of something smart, something sophisticated, possibly something that involves him shooting people. ★★★★★ SM

Your TV Times

Lovingly crafted

What a wonderful show BBC2's The Repair Shop was, showcasing the talents of this team of genius craftspeople. They breathed new life into some much-loved, precious items with such sensitivity. Marvellous!

Amanda Ellis, Leeds

Super saver

I enjoyed Thrifty Ways To... Summer Holiday on C4. Hosts Katie Piper and Amar Latif were great, but I felt it might have been nicer to take someone short of money on holiday – do the two hosts really need to be thrifty? Enjoyable nonetheless.

Jennifer Shelden, Leicester

LETTER OF THE WEEK

Haunting but hopeful

Christopher Eccleston has truly risen to his latest acting challenge, with his masterly portrayal of abandoned husband Greg in BBC1 drama Come Home. Paula Malcomson was equally convincing as wife Marie, and together they delivered some truly moving scenes as he begged her to return to the family home. Haunting, powerful and realistically gritty, yet infused with warmth and hope.

Pete Simon, Warwickshire

A real inspiration

The Real Full Monty on ITV was so inspiring. The fact the two shows have motivated men and women to get checked for cancers surely make these two of the year's most important shows.

Frances Fineberg, Herts

Good sports

Once again, BBC1's biennial fundraiser Sport Relief was a spectacular night of entertainment and touching stories. The evening was wonderfully presented by Gary Lineker, Davina McCall and the rest of their colleagues. Well done to everyone involved for making this extravaganza such a success.

John Manuel, East Sussex

Flying high

Talented brothers Ewan and Colin McGregor did a fine job presenting BBC1's RAF at 100, charting the fascinating history of the Royal Air Force. Through some careful research, interviews with veterans, and footage of flights in biplanes, spitfires and the supersonic Typhoon fighter, a detailed picture of the RAF then and now was skilfully presented. Well done, chaps!

G Moss, Derbyshire

Fascinating: RAF at 100

TV TURN OFF

Benidorm

I think ITV sitcom Benidorm is getting past its sell-by date. The regular cast members struggle to find any humour in the script and the newer characters aren't appealing. It used to be a funny series.

BILL MAYNARD 1928-2018

Loved: Bill in Heartbeat and as Selwyn (right)

He became a household name playing northern characters but Bill Maynard, who has passed away aged 89, was born Walter Williams in Heath End, Surrey.

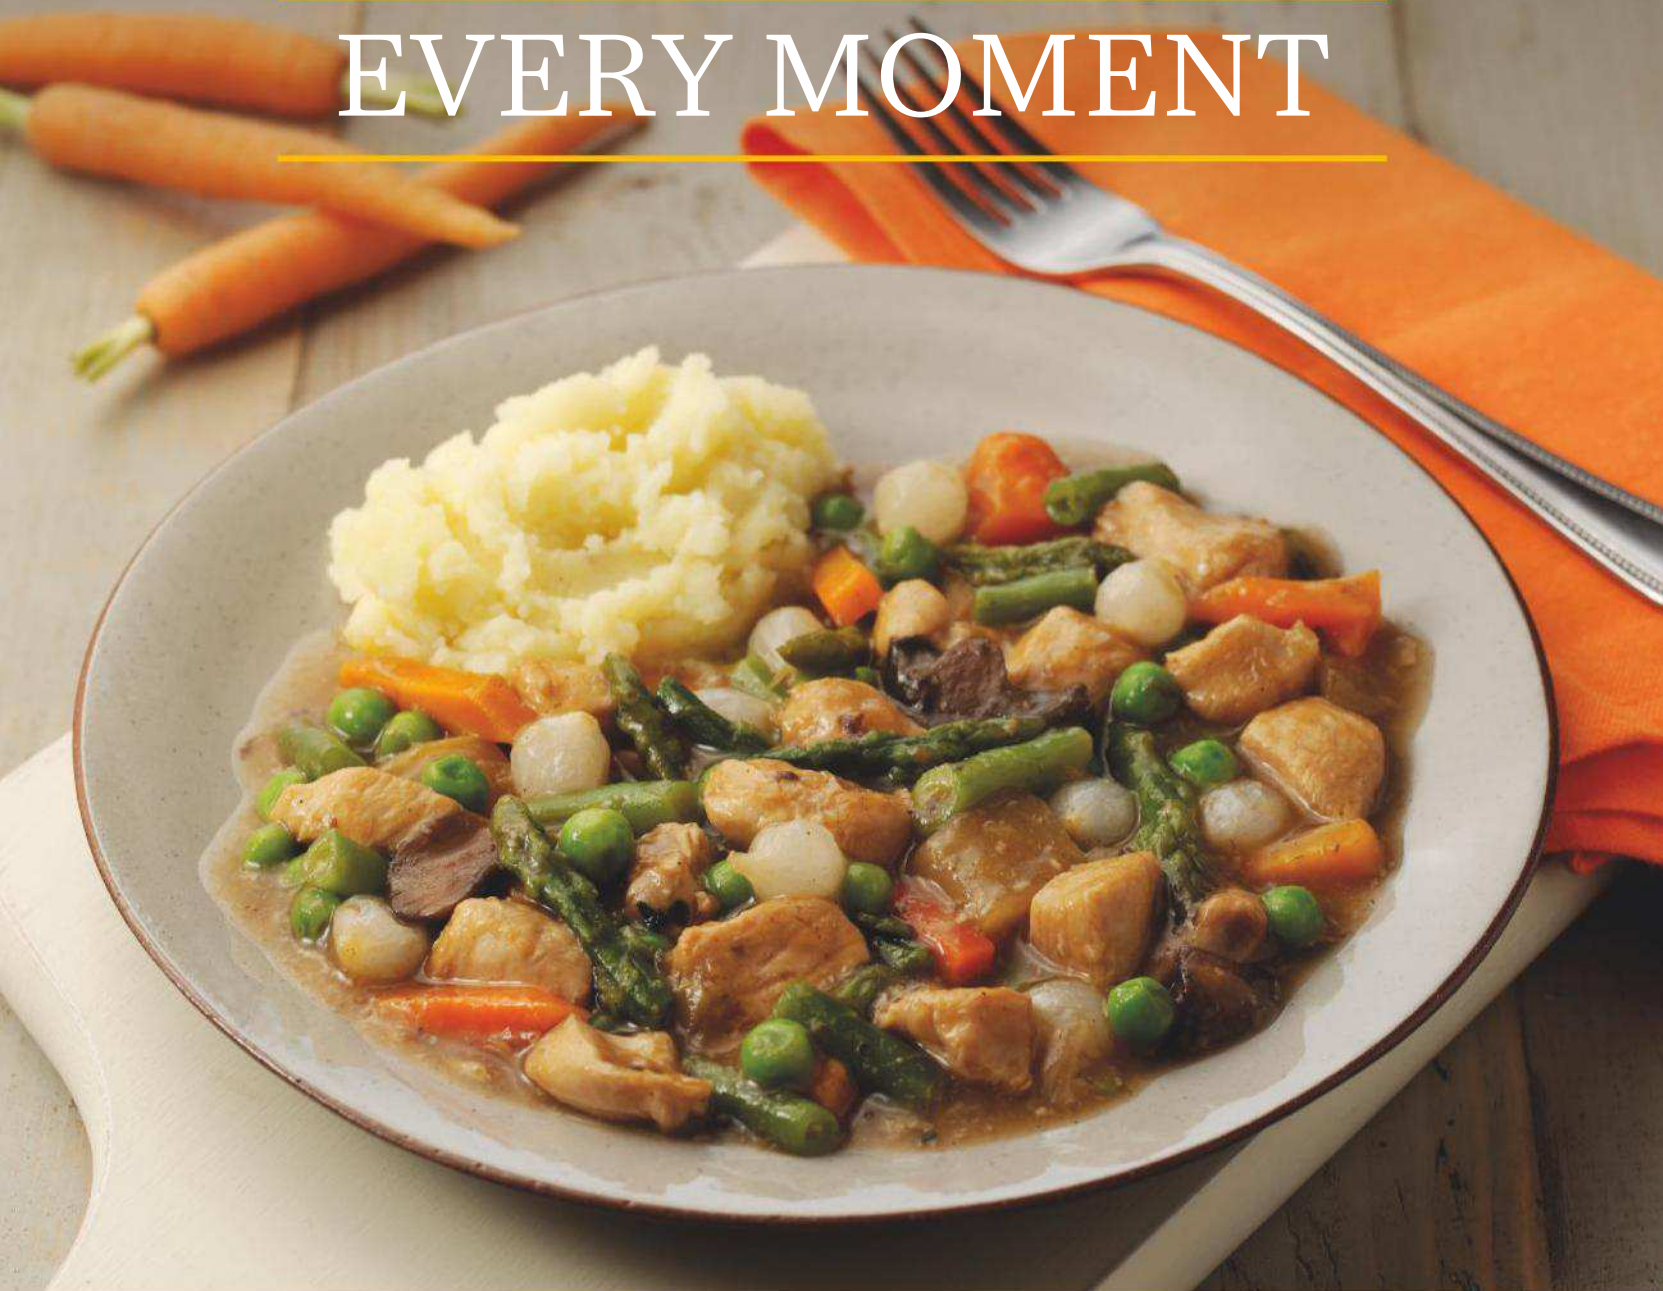

Taking his stage surname from the brand of wine gums, Bill's big break came as a daft-but-loveable labourer in the title role of ITV sitcom Oh No, It's Selwyn Froggitt. From 1974-1978, Bill made the show a must-see.

But it's as Claude Jeremiah Greengrass, the resident rogue of ITV feelgood drama Heartbeat, that Bill will be best remembered. Indeed, it has been said Claude and Bill shared some qualities – a little rough around the edges, perhaps, but brimming with fun and mischief, and always ready to entertain. It's not a bad epitaph for a man who was loved by the nation for over four decades.
